Handwritten text in a South Indian script, likely Grantha or Tamil, arranged in three vertical columns. The script is finely inscribed on a light-colored, possibly stone or metal, surface. The text is organized into approximately 12 horizontal lines, with each line containing three distinct units or characters. The characters are highly stylized and compact. A prominent diagonal crack runs across the upper portion of the inscription, starting from the top left and extending towards the middle right. The overall appearance is that of an ancient or historical record.
