Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly Urdu or Persian, consisting of several lines of characters. The text is faint and partially obscured by the texture of the surface.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly a historical or religious document, written on aged, textured paper. The text is arranged in several lines and is significantly faded and obscured by the paper's grain and some surface damage. The characters are dark and appear to be ink.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly a signature or a name, is visible on the textured surface. The text is oriented vertically and appears to be written in dark ink or paint. The characters are somewhat stylized and difficult to decipher precisely due to the texture and lighting. Some legible fragments include "EST. 1850" and "NEW YORK".
